

McGill To Honor Dr. Ryle

Special Convocation To Give Physician Doctorate

McGill University will award an honorary Doctorate in Science to Dr. John Alfred Ryle, eminent British physician and specialist in the field of social medicine, at a special Convocation on March 2. The ceremony will be held in Moyse Hall at 8:30, it was decided at the last Senate meeting, and Dr. Ryle will deliver an address.

Dr. Ryle is the head of Britain's first Institute of Social Medicine, and is a professor of that subject at Oxford University. He received his undergraduate medical education at Guy's Hospital, London, where he was a Gold Medalist. He has held a medical professorship at Cambridge, and was a Fellow of several colleges there. He has been Lecturer and Professor at the Royal College of Physicians and at the Royal College of Surgeons. In addition, he has been Physician Extraordinary to the King for over 10 years.

Within this period he has held posts at Guy's Hospital, and was for four years a member of the Medical Research Council. During the war he was Consultant Adviser to the Minister of Public Health in the Emergency Medical Service. He has published medical books and made contributions to journals.

Dr. Ryle feels that, with the great strides made in medical scientific data and techniques "the most important science of all, that of man," has not received due attention. There must be a return to understanding of the state of the whole community in respect to the incidence of various diseases, an complete reliance cannot be placed on objective tests. An important part of social medicine's field is to bring about a return to "the study and assessment methods of the general physician."

On receiving the D. Sc. Honoris Causa, Dr. Ryle will speak on some aspect of his branch of medicine. He is visiting Montreal under the sponsorship of McGill's Department of Health and Social Medicine.

Athletics Night Thurs., Mar. 6 At Dawson

Dawson will be the scene of an Athletics Night on Thursday March 6, under the joint sponsorship of the Dawson SAC and the Dawson Red and White Societies. Games, featuring Dawson teams, will occupy the first part of the evening. They will be followed by a dance, which will be held in the gym. Music will be supplied by the Westernaires, already well known on the St. Johns and McGill campuses. Arrangements have been made for resident and non-resident RVC students to go to Dawson for the evening. A minimum fee of 50 cents will cover transportation and admission. Lists have been posted in all the main buildings on the campus, and all girls who wish to attend are asked to sign as soon as possible. Booths will be set up for ticket sales, and girls are requested to buy their tickets early so that the required number of buses can be chartered.

Fireside Gathering

This week the Faculty Fireside will feature a variety show to be presented by the Dawson Players Club, revealed Mrs. Em Orlick, hostess for the month of February. This informal gathering, held weekly, will start proceedings in the Faculty Club at 8 p.m. Sunday evening.

This is the second performance of the year for the student variety group. Other meetings have presented a variety of programs, last week's featuring the well-known Canadian artist, Fritz Brandtner.

Youth Hostels Group To Hold Dance Soon

The Canadian Youth Hostels Association are holding their Second Annual Benefit Dance on Friday, March 14 in Victoria Hall, Westmount. The music is by the well-known maestro, Blake Sewell, who appeared recently on the campus at the Plumber's Ball.

The association has many student members and the Hostel movement is endorsed by leading educationalists, church dignitaries and character building organizations. It is a strictly a non-profit organization depending for support on a small membership fee and this annual benefit dance.

Tickets for the dance may be obtained for $2.50 per couple or $1.50 each at the CYH Office, Room 317, Central YMCA every afternoon and Wednesday and Thursday evening, or by mail order—P. O. Box 324.

Quiz Period Planned for Election Meet

A question period to take the place of the platforms which were already presented by the candidates for the position of President of the Students Society will be the feature of the next election meeting to take place early next week, it was decided last night by the Students Executive Council.

The meeting felt that such an arrangement will best serve to clarify any points of contention in the various platforms. The time element will be a prominent factor as was noted by those who attended yesterday's session.

It was further felt that to best provide a medium for the candidates for the various Men's Union positions a special meeting will be held Thursday noon. At this gathering, all candidates will be able to present their platforms and if there is still time, to answer questions.

The scheduled meeting at Dawson College may not be held tomorrow night but early next week, depending on arrangements for the main theatre. Final details had not been set at press time last night.

The Council also approved Phillips as Producer of the 1948 Red and White Revue on recommendation of Gene Jousse. Phillips will choose the rest of his staff for approval of the Council at an early date.

It was pointed out to the meeting that the students visiting Yugoslavia this summer are guests of that government and are not official representatives of McGill's student body. The Council has had no say in the choice of those going on the trip.

Film Society Meets at Five

This afternoon at 5 p.m. (and not at 5:30 as reported in yesterday's Daily) in Room 250 of the Biology Building the Film Society will present "The True Glory". This film will be shown again at 8:15 as the feature of the evening program, along with two shorter technical films "The Blooming Desert" and "Yosemite National Park."

"The True Glory", a documentary film recording the story of the Allied invasion of Europe from its launching at Southampton to its completion in Berlin, is the result of the magnificently co-ordinated efforts of hundreds of the Allied Nations' combat cameramen.

"The Blooming Desert", is a colourful representation of the California desert in the spring. "Yosemite National Park" gives accurate geological data and historic events occurring in the life of this natural wonder.

The authorities in charge of the Biology Building have advised the executive of the Film Society that due to the inadvisability of overcrowding Room 250 because of fire hazard, no one can be allowed in after all the available seats are filled.

ERROR

In yesterday's Daily, due to a regrettable error in composition, the platforms of the candidates were signed by students who had written pen-profiles for the candidates. Because of lack of space, these profiles did not appear. The Daily regrets any inconvenience caused to the candidates, or confusion on the part of the voters of McGill.

Greatest Lady Describes United Nations

Mrs. Roosevelt Gives Informal Press Conference—Sees Peace for Palestine

By AL TUNIS.

When we first saw Mrs. Roosevelt, we were tremendously impressed; when we heard her speak, our first impressions were confirmed. Here was the wholesome combination of wit, charm, and sincerity, which make her one of the foremost women of our time. And if this were not enough, she holds the convictions and the beliefs which, in essence, are simple and fundamental, yet at the same time elusive and too likely to be forgotten.

REPORTERS LIKE QUESTIONS

At a press conference earlier in the day, Mrs. Roosevelt was at her informal best, and we had the opportunity to hear her answer questions with tact and confidence. Reporters from most of the local papers put questions to Mrs. Roosevelt ranging all the way from "Is this your first visit to Montreal?" to "What do you think of the Palestine Situation?" She answered all questions with a soft, serious answer, which, however, could not hide the ever present undercurrent of charm and wit.

In her lighter moments, Mrs.

Roosevelt confessed to the "gentlemen of the press" her reaction to being chosen as chairman of the Human Rights Committee. "I didn't know the first thing about parliamentary procedure," she said. Among the only things she did know was that a motion had to be seconded, and how to deal with amendments to a motion. She pointed out, however, that she was not long in learning.

WORK ON HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE

And in her serious moments, Mrs. Roosevelt spoke with overt sincerity about her work on the Human Rights Committee; her attitude to the Palestine question; and her deep interest in the problem of displaced persons.

Among the difficulties lying in the way of acceptance of a broad Human rights declaration, Mrs. Roosevelt cited the problem of differences in creed, custom, and constitution among the nations of the world; other misunderstandings were due to the different meanings which various nations ascribe to the same words. She used as an example the word "democracy", explaining that it meant one thing to some people, and was interpreted quite differently by others.

PEACEABLE SOLUTION TO PALESTINE

Answering a question on the Palestine problem, Mrs. Roosevelt praised the work done by the Jews in Palestine, and she thought that some peaceable solution could be reached.

Extended Curriculum Planned at Carleton

Ottawa — (CUP) — Carleton College will offer third year instruction in Arts, Science and Commerce next year and grant degrees in these subjects the following year, according to a radio address delivered recently by M. M. MacDorm, newly-appointed president of the college.

President MacDorm made the announcement in connection with the building drive for $500,000 in Ottawa and district. "This amount," said MacDorm, "is what we require to provide adequate facilities for the 1,600 students registered in the college."

Previously, Carleton College has offered degrees only in Journalism and Public Administration.

Beatty Hall Now Called Wilson Hall

Beatty Hall, the students' residence at the corner of Milton and University streets, will henceforth be known as the Morris W. Wilson Memorial Hall, it was announced yesterday by Dr. James.

The building, in addition to being a residence, is also the headquarters of the United Theological College and residence for United College students. It was originally called Wesleyan College and after 1925 became the United Theological College.

During the first part of the war the building was used to house R.C.A.F. radio technicians. It then became a barracks for members of the University Army Course and finally ended up as a temporary hospital for war casualties. After the war it was renovated and the residence section was named Beatty Hall, after the late Sir Edward Beatty, at one time chancellor of the University.

Dr. Wilson was the former chancellor of the University, being appointed after the death of Mr. Beatty. He served in that capacity for two and a half years until his death in May of last year. He was an eminent banker and a prominent member of St. James United Church.

Mr. Beatty's former house on Pine Ave. will now be known as Beatty Hall. It was given to the University along with other important items, by his bequest. The building is now the permanent home of the School of Graduate Nurses and the School of Physiotherapy.

Forge Seeks More Articles, Deadline Fri.

With the contributing deadline set for February 28 and only a handful of contributions, in the Forge feels it is time to make a few facts public. When the last issue of the Forge went to press it had only 200 contributions to select from: 200 contributors out of 8,000 students. Time is getting sort: Articles short-stories, plays and poetry in French or English are urgently needed. They may be humorous or serious and are desired from all faculties.

Many students feel that their work is not useable or of the type the Forge is looking for. If you have written something already, turn it in. If not take a few hours and write something. The more contributions the Forge receives the better chance it has of representing the spirit of McGill.

Remember, the Forge is your literary magazine. You pay for its publication and you buy it. It can be as good or as bad as you make it. No matter what faculty you are in, what experience you have had write now for the Forge. Let them be the judge and give.

'Democracy Must Work Harder'— Mrs. Roosevelt

Famous Stateswoman Spoke To McGill Students Yesterday

By P. A. T.

"No machinery of the United Nations will actually bring us permanent peace. It will depend upon whether the peoples of the world work to make it an instrument creating an atmosphere for the growth of peace. . . . We must work for it. . . . must believe in our ideals so that permanent peace may be accomplished." These were the dramatic words of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, first lady of the United Nations, in her impromptu address to students of McGill yesterday afternoon.

While thousands of students from McGill, University of Montreal, Sir George Williams College, and Loyola gathered in Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium. Mrs. Roosevelt told of her experiences in the actual assemblies of the international organization for permanent world peace and security. She also spoke last evening to the general public at the Forum, on behalf of the United Nations Society of Canada which is sponsoring a membership and interest drive.

Chairman Apologises

The Chairman of the meeting for Mrs. Roosevelt in the Gym yesterday afternoon wishes to express his deepest regrets for his lapse of memory. The third point which the Executive of the International Relations Club wished him to make was itself three-fold:

1) Our most sincere thanks to Principal James, Dean MacMillan, Dr. Lamb, and generally all University authorities and staff concerned for their warm and generous support of our efforts;

2) Our gratitude to the United Nations Society in Canada, and in particular three of its officers, Senator Hugesson, Mr. Eric Morse (National Secretary) and M. Renee-Louis Baudoin, M.P., for their fostering of our idea to bring Mrs. Roosevelt before a student audience.

3) All other organizations and individuals, too numerous to specify, who lent their time, moral support and work to the meeting.

EUS Elections Approaching

Nominations to the Engineering Undergraduate Society closed last Saturday at noon with all positions contested by at least two men with the exception of Publicity Manager where J. L. Dutil of second year was elected by acclamation. The nominees for president and the two vice-presidents are all third year men while the positions of secretary and treasurer are contested by second year students. Granville Johnston was nominated to the position of 2nd vice-president, but withdrew due to other commitments.

The complete list of nominees is given below:

President: Ed Gauthier, Stu Green.

Brought to McGill by the International Relations Club, Mrs. Roosevelt spoke in both French and English, a gesture which was much appreciated by the audience containing many French-Canadian students.

UN MUST CHANGE WITH THE TIMES

"Our world is not static; it shall change; and the United Nations must change with it. What happens on the Security Council is probably less important in the long run than the decisions of the Economic and Social Councils, the non-governmental agencies that are able to deal with problems before they become the peace of the world."

"It is essential to build a strong force, controlled by UN. Otherwise nations must build up individual force so that they may feel secure. Until we can give up force to achieve our ends, there must be a united force."

Mrs. Roosevelt went on to point out how the agencies of the UN work and meet together and in that way learn to understand the viewpoints more fully. "It is only by working together that we come to understand each other, this is the real way to peace."

THE MACHINERY BEGINS TO WORK

Speaking of the League of Nations, the prominent American woman said that at the first Assembly of the UN in London there was a feeling of insecurity and apprehension, that there was a lack of enthusiasm which was not present during the sessions of the League when every one was convinced of success. On the second general meeting, however, she noted that a more solid spirit of working and confidence was apparent. "There was a feeling that the machinery was beginning to work. . . . a sense of 'this is going to work'. It is essential that it must work!" she said.

DEMOCRACY MUST WORK HARDER

As a student Mrs. Roosevelt travelled and lived in Europe enough to know and understand the people there. But after the last war she was impressed with our ability to destroy the works of man with methodical accuracy. This last war, neglecting even the atom bomb, has shown us that we have only increased our ability to destroy. "If we are to preserve our civilization, and make it more worthwhile for people to live in. . . . we must use UN. Democracy must work harder so that we come up to the ideals of our democratic way," she said adding that we must live democracy day in and day out; that we must work for it in peace as we did during the war years.

"Can we reconcile the philosophies of the Eastern European groups? Can we live in the same world?" To these questions Mrs. Roosevelt stated that often we could not reconcile our beliefs and ideals, but that we could be friends, and that we could live and work together in the same world. She cited incidents from her experience where ideologies were not completely reconciled, but she emphatically added that there was no bitterness left after the final voting had been done. "We parted good friends. . . . that is the way we will achieve that."

From Turkey to Chile

Foreign Scholarships Increase: Student Exchanges Available

By BETTY SIGLER

From Europe, from South America, from India, China, Turkey and Egypt students have been sent on scholarships to study at McGill in the past ten years. Some have been sent by the governments of their own countries, others by private organizations, and still others by taking advantage of grants made by McGill.

The Turkish Government has sent a number of students to study engineering at McGill. They took degrees in Mining and Metallurgical Engineering in 1942 and '43. Some entered with advanced standing due to previous study in Europe, and two reached Montreal by devious routes, escaping from Belgium as the Germans invaded. Several did post-graduate work at American universities, one man publishing a research paper on the chromite deposits of his own country.

India too has sent men to study engineering and applied science at McGill. The Indian Government is subsidizing graduate students in water power, engineering, pulp and paper, and agricultural chemistry. The first group came last summer, and more expected, including people sent by the Tata Foundation.

China has sent numbers of students to study in Great Britain and the Dominions under rather different circumstances. After the Boxer Rebellion at the turn of the century, she was forced to pay Britain an indemnity. This was refunded to her, on the condition that she use it to educate some of her people in British universities. Universities in the British Isles were inaccessible during the war, so a number of Chinese students were sent to McGill. One of them is now working for a Ph.D. in Zoology.

Chile has offered McGill three exchange scholarships very recently. Similar offers have come from South America in the past, and a number of South Americans have studied at McGill.

Some Improvement

The response from the student body of yesterday's election meeting, while still not up to expectations, nevertheless indicated a more definite interest in the issues at stake. While only 300 or so found it convenient to get out to hear the candidates for the highest student executive offices, this figure is a definite improvement over those of the past few elections.

However, this election appears to involve questions which should be in the minds of every student — and as a result we should be able to anticipate a greater interest in meeting the men and women who will conduct the student body and its policies for the next session.

For this reason we hope that the fever of elections will rise from now until voting day. Thus, we expect a good turnout at Dawson for the meeting. Meanwhile, we trust that the candidates will keep themselves and their platforms in the public eye.—A.K.

Charmed!

McGill students yesterday played host to a most remarkable woman. For an interesting hour the charm, wit, and profound convictions of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt captured the attention of both students and staff of the university. The woman who had achieved the title of 'first lady' in the United States, was yesterday 'first lady' of McGill University.

Mrs. Roosevelt's message was simple and clear. With characteristic charm and sincerity, she put over the idea which it would do well to consider once more. Democracy, she said, must itself work for the peace. In order to do this, we must not take things for granted; we must strive to bring our democratic countries up to the level of the ideals which are embodied in the United Nations.

The significance of these statements is obvious. Mrs. Roosevelt has placed the onus upon the Canadian and American people; the burden, the responsibilities for world peace lies squarely on our shoulders. We must, then, develop new attitudes; we must adapt our former credos to a new world — an 'international-consciousness', a tolerance of our fellow-man which will transcend all cultural and religious barriers.

We cannot help but express our deepest gratitude to Mrs. Roosevelt for once again bringing to our attention those things which we are entirely too prone to forget. In our necessarily confined lives, we tend to lose sight of our broad objectives — the desire to live in peace and security. Once again, the International Relations Club is due a vote of thanks for bringing Mrs. Roosevelt and her beliefs to the students of McGill.—A.K.

An Informal Glimpse Of Eleanor Roosevelt

By DUSTY VINEBERG

It is not only what Eleanor Roosevelt is, but also what she stands for that we so admire. It is most difficult to write about her; she is still, I believe, the first lady of the United Nations, although no longer of the United States. Having seen and heard her, it is impossible not to feel more faith, where formerly one perhaps had very little, in the ultimate success of the United Nations, of which she is a member.

It was with a great deal of respect and excitement, then, and a feeling that this was a proud moment for McGill University, that we awaited Mrs. Roosevelt's arrival at the Sir Arathur Currie Gymnasium yesterday afternoon. Upstairs, in an open corner-window of the Officers' Mess, we were directly above her car when she stepped out of it and was greeted by Principal James. We heard greetings exchanged and could see her quite clearly as she spoke with the little knot of people clustered about her car. In a very few minutes she came up to the Officers' Mess. It became difficult to keep in mind the importance of her position, as various students were introduced to her, and she spoke to them. I have never seen or heard anyone who spoke with such complete absence of pretense, with more ease and dignity, or who seemed to be a more direct and simple human being.

It was during her speech that one was overwhelmingly aware that she is, among many who may not be so, a person of good will. She said that she thought it was the duty of the UN representatives to try to make their peoples understand other nations. Mrs. Roosevelt herself performs her duty movingly. One feels that here is a person who is so genuinely horrified by the idea of world disunity and consequent annihilation, that she is working with all her intelligence and strength, tolerance and understanding, to pull our one world into shape. I think, few people can estimate what it costs her.

The gymnasium was as silent as it has ever been in its most solemn moments, and as I looked around me, I thought that I had seldom seen its occupants listen with a greater intensity of admiration on their faces. A few of Mrs. Roosevelt's words sum up her working principles and the spirit which emanates from her. They can be quoted here: "It is only by working together," she said, "that we come to understand each other . . . the work that goes on day by day . . . is what counts. We have to try to understand the other person's approach. If we want to destroy our civilization, I don't think it would take us very long . . . To talk ideas is not enough . . . You've got to live democracy, day in and day out . . ."

We have been greatly privileged by the appearance at our university of a great woman. Thank you, Mrs. Roosevelt.

The Dramateurs

The English Department, combining the words "drama" and "amateur," has adopted and copyrighted DRAMATEURS as a key-name for experimental productions of plays written by its students. The first production of the DRAMATEURS will be given next Friday (March 7) in Moyse Hall.

Four one-act plays written in English 22 will be acted, directed and staged by students in dramatic production courses.

There will be no admission charge for the single performance, but those accepting tickets will be expected to submit a brief critical comment relative to the author's success or failure in getting his story across.

All seats are reserved and may be obtained by applying to Elmer Hall, Director of Dramatic Productions, or by contacting dramatic production students.

The program will include: "IT'S A CATCH," A Comedy of a College Newspaper, by Althea McCoy. "UNTIMELY FROST," A Story of the Greek Underground Resistance Movement, by Michael Sakellariopoulos. "SLOW ORDER," A Story of the Railroad, by Creighton Douglas. "MISALLIANCE," Another Comedy of Error, by David MacCallan.

Two Great Pianists

ERNO BALOGH

In his many concerts all over the United States and in Canada, Balogh has won his audience with his brilliant piano playing, his fire and his colorful personality wherever he has appeared. Through his frequent appearance on the radio as soloist with various orchestras, he has also introduced obscure concertos by Liszt, Schumann and Gligione.

Born in Budapest, he has been an American citizen for many years. Before coming to America he established himself as pianist and composer throughout Europe. In the latter capacity, he has performed his compositions in concert, and his orchestra works have been performed at music festivals, in concert, and on the radio under such conductors as Ormandy, Walenstein, and Rapee.

LOYONNET

Mr. Loyonnet's arrival in Canada is considered a sensational event of this musical season. He was one of the greatest stars of the piano in Europe between 1918 and 1932 during which time he toured Italy, Spain, Holland, Germany and Scandinavia. Before the war, he went into a period of retirement, but was ruined by the occupation, soon after which, in 1942, he made a tour in North Africa. His appearance in Paris in 1945 was a real triumph. He also toured France and then began his world tour.

In October, 1946, he finally arrived in New York. To measure his success there, it is sufficient to quote the New York Times critic who wrote, "A new really big pianist is among us."

STRING QUARTET FEATURES OBOIST

Varied chamber music combinations featuring the McGill String Quartet were heard Friday night at the Hermitage. The outstanding guest oboist, Lois Wann, showed an admirable, keen sense of musical taste, surety of phrasing, and handling of musical ornaments, as was heard in the Sonata in A minor for Oboe and String Trio by the 18th century composer, Carlo Tessarini. Her good blendings of tone added immensely to the evening's entertainment of chamber music.

It was the Oboe Quartet in F major by Mozart, that Miss Wann proved her capable handling of the intricate, florid oboe passages. She also performed on the English Horn in Mr. Bröhl's "Songs of Contemplation," bringing sonority and deep expression to these works which depicted morbidity and utter pathos. At times her broad vibrato resembled an alto saxophone. A string double bass was added to the quartet in this Opus.

A Beethoven Duo for violin and cello was added as a novelty combination. Superficiality seemed to mar the music and the performance, owing to the transparency of expression in such a medium.

Most interesting, musically, was Haydn's Quartet, "The Quincent," which was taken at a happy pace and fervid impertinence. It was most unfortunate that the three lower-voiced instruments took an inferior attitude in the ensemble. This seems to be an inherent characteristic of the McGill String Quartet. The wilful subordination of these instrumentalists is not the true spirit of sincere chamber music. S. R.

LETTER FORUM

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,

In his platform, as presented yesterday, Mr. Ballon promised "c) I would initiate an annual Winter Carnival at McGill University on the same scale as the Dartmouth Carnival."

For the benefit of the student electors this program has already been initiated by the ski-team manager. It is recorded in the minutes of the M.O.C., and organization has already started.

Mr. Ballon happened to be present during one of the times that this Carnival was discussed by those concerned.

Let the credit fall where it is due!

Respectfully yours,
John Dohan,
Eng. III.

The Editor, McGill Daily,

Dear Sir, — Owing to the pressure of other activities, I feel that I must withdraw my nomination for the position of President of the Women's Union. Nevertheless I am truly grateful to those who submitted my name as a possible representative of the women students on this campus. May I, through the medium of the Daily, extend to them a very sincere thank you.

Sincerely,
JOY MACKAY.

The Movies

"Africa Speaks" at the Imperial

Hear ye, hear ye, all you gentle folk who thrilled and chilled to hair-raising jungle pictures when youngsters in stuffy church and basements. This picture, incidentally released in 1930, is sure to bring back memories of such occasions.

Here we are witnessing a courageous trek of cameramen through the jungles of darkest Africa, encountering every conceivable type of wild animal, pigny and tribesman. We watch these "characters" as they live their "normal" and workaday lives, devouring, eating, killing and dancing (jitter bugs please note). Despite the age of the film and unlike the L & H comedy paired with it, everything is timely and up to the minute in darkest Africa that is.

PRINCESS—"THE CHASE"

Ripping-fast action, expertly timed climaxes, and the impeccable performance of Robert Cummings make "The Chase" a very enjoyable film to see. A blondified Michele Morgan, somewhat inferior to the Morgan of former French films, nevertheless plays very well the part of the fear-stricken wife of tough-guy Steve Cochran. The role of Cochran's chauffeur is splendidly played by Robert Cummings, who recovers from amnesia just in time to escape with the boss's wife to Cuba, where both struggle out of corners into which they have been pushed by Cochran's henchmen. Among these is little frowning Peter Lorre who, this time as the devoted stooge of Cochran, puts up the usual flawless performance, and is no mean factor in the scare-raising thriller.—J.P.

"Undercurrent"

At the Palace

"Undercurrent" is the title of the slightly melodramatic picture being featured at the Palace Theatre. Katherine Hepburn, the lady with the mobile face, walks away with the acting honours in her role of wife of Robert Taylor, a man with an obsessed hatred of his brother, movingly underplayed by Robert Mitchum. Due to his hatred Robert Taylor flirts into unexplicable tantrums, which would appear ludicrous if it were not for Miss Hepburn. The picture is highly entertaining, however, and has the advantage of having a fairly well worked out plot.

Jolson Story

This week Loew's is presenting the long publicized musical film biography of Al Jolson. Filmed in effective Technicolor, it contains all the necessary elements to make it a top box-office attraction, the main one being the real Al Jolson's voice on the sound track. Larry Parks, who plays in the title role, imitates the stage mannerisms of that Broadway star expertly and to the last detail, so much so that it is said the real Mr. Jolson was astonished.

Although the "Jolson Story" runs much longer than is customary for musical films, it nevertheless does not drag at any time, provided the onlooker does not tire of hearing a great number of the old Jolson favourites.—H. P. W.

Dark Mirror

One of the better pictures downtown this week is the film Dark Mirror starring Olivia De Havilland and Lew Ayres. It deals with identical twins played by Miss De Havilland in her inimitable manner. One is sweet and trustworthy, the other mentally deranged and cunning. A murder is committed, but the police cannot touch the murderer because they do not know which twin is the guilty one.

Comment: It's worth seeing if you like who-dun-it. —L. P.

Y.M.H.A. Blues Retain Dodds Cup in Hard Fought Tilt

Beat McGill 54-39; Duford Ace Redman As Waxman Shines

By PERC TANNEBAUM,
(Daily Staff Writer)

Again this season, the Red and White hoopers were unable to regain the coveted Dodds Cup as they lost out to a sharper shooting Y.M.H.A. squad by a 54-39 score. A barrage of baskets in the first five minutes of the second canto by the Blue Boys overcame a half-time 3 point McGill lead, and from there on in, the Redmen faltered considerably while the winners just couldn't miss.

Another factor adding to the defeat, and this is not offered as an excuse, was a very poor brand of officiating. Myer Bloom and George Davidson were twice fouled as they went in on lay-ups, but no free throws were awarded.

officiating. Myer Bloom and George Davidson were twice fouled as they went in on lay-ups, but no free throws were awarded.

DUFORD STARS

Bobby "The Blonde Bullet" Duford gave his best display to date as he notched 16 points to take the individual scoring honours for the tilt. The "Y" attack was spearheaded by the one-hand sniping of Murray Waxman, who accounted for 13 tallies, while Prupas nicked the twine for an even dozen.

For the first half, the Redmen played steady ball to match the play of the Mt. Royal Avenue gang. They made good on their shooting attempts, while keeping the victors at bay with a smooth zone defence.

BREAK AWAY

As the second session got under way, it appeared as if it would be a replica of the preceding period. The collegians matched the M.B.L. lads basket for basket. Then the roof caved in. Ex-McGillian Dave Greenberg started the ball rolling with a couple of sweet tallies, and Murray Waxman got into the swing of things as he looped his one-handers in with monotonous consistency.

Although "Flick" Davidson yielded the scoring limelight to Duford, he accounted for 9 points, while Sam Roth and Myer each accounted for 6. The Redmen were handicapped to an appreciable extent as Ken Hoyle sat this one out with a bad foot, and Dawsonite Ken Taylor remained by his fireside out in St. John's.

Dawson Loses To Georgians In M.B.L. Tilt

The Georgians defeated Dawson last night at the Sir Arthur Currie Gym by a score of 59-31. Both the teams were tied for fourth place in the league, and the results of this game mean that the Georgians will play in the intermediate inter-collegiate play-offs.

Dawson didn't get a score until nine minutes of the play had gone by. In the first half Kias starred for Sir George's, while McIntosh, Weston, Naves, and MacLeod all got six points. Dawson tried a lot of long shots all through the game, but none placed. Dunn shot Dawson's first scoring basket, and Brown shot in scored another basket after sixteen minutes of play. The score at the end of the first half was 36-5.

SECOND HALF

In the second half Dawson scored well, McKinnon getting eight points. Weston for Georgians played a steady game all through, with five points in the second half. Junke scored seven in this half. Dawson played nice ball towards the end but the Georgians held from the beginning right through the game.

Flash—

The Dawson intermediate hockey team defeated Champlain last night 15-3 in an exhibition game on the Dawson College ice. Phil Henry was the star of the night, notching three goals while Barrett, Bozich, Layton, and Woodworth each scored twice.

Red Ski Team In ISU Meet Next Weekend

The Red and White Ski team will be up at Ste. Marguerite this weekend in the Inter-collegiate Ski Union Championships (commonly called the I.S.U.). They will be skiing on Friday and Saturday against nine American Colleges and Universities.

The captain of the McGill team is Don Stanforth, who won the Quebec Kandahar last year and was also the Laurentian Zone Champion. Along with him will be Art Bruneau. Both these boys were on the McGill team last year and from 1940-42 and from 1942-45.

STAR JUMPERS

Johnny Foster and Karre Olson are both star jumpers. Karre is also a prominent cross country skier and last year he was skimmer at Middlebury.

Bruce Fleming will be skiing as well as John Tyler and Ted Pope. A newcomer to the team this year with a big record is Baz Davis.

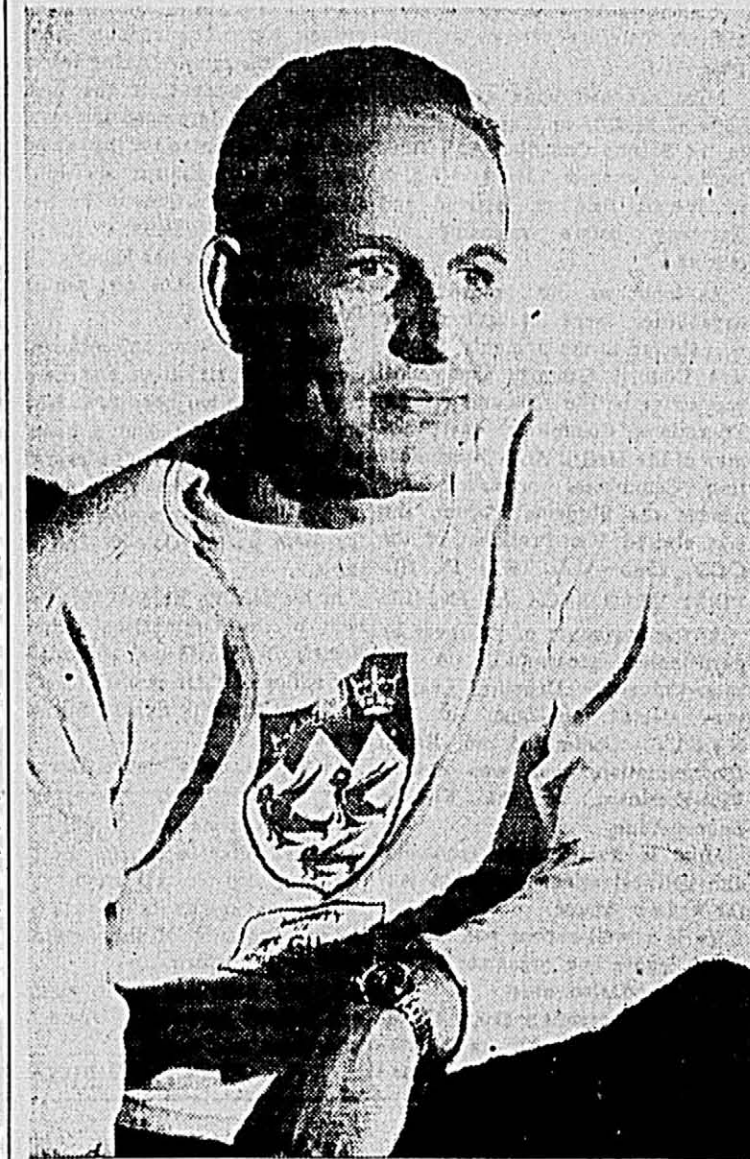

McGill will be well represented with a host of good skiers as well as a host of ski enthusiasts to cheer them on, it is hoped.

Coach Vic Obeck

Meets McGill Gridmen Today in Ballroom

Red Seconds Tie Mac 4-4 In Hockey Tilt

Yesterday afternoon saw Coach Ross Hutchings herding his Intermediate Pucksters out to the spacious grounds of Macdonald College for their last tilt of scheduled against the Aggies. The game was fast and furious with both teams fighting hard for a final victory, but despite these valiant efforts the game ended with a 4-4 draw.

Kevin Kennedy turned in a smart game at the nets, holding off many a well aimed Aggie shot. On the defense line was the ever dependable Tommy Bridel who played one of the best games of the season with Mack Beck, Malone, and Billy Graham, all helping to raise the McGill score. The first goal of the tilt was scored by Bridel assisted by Malone followed by a second goal by Beck.

GRAHAM SCORES TWO

Sharp shooting Billy Graham came in for his share of praise by placing two goals in the Aggie twine thus raising the Reds score to four. Malone and Bridel were again on hand to help with the assists. Jo-Jo Smythe turned in a good all around game as did Gordie Chalmers, Stew Geddes, Charlie Hayworth, Warren Chippendale, and "Junior" Smith. Big brother "Whizzer" was unable to play due to pressure of studies.

On the home team's side Langelle and Whittaker scored a goal a piece. The other two scorers are unknown as the referees did not give their names to the officials scorer.

Tonight at 8 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, Coach Vic Obeck, McGill's new football mentor, will hold an open meeting for all those interested in trying out for the football team next fall.

This informal grid session will afford the Red and White Gridmen a chance to meet their new football coach. It will also give the new McGill sports personality a fine opportunity to find out what football material exists at McGill, of finding out something of their experience and capabilities and discussing something of his plans for the coming season.

Provincial 'B' Title Awarded To Colquhoun

On Saturday afternoon Bob Colquhoun of McGill became the latest player in the Province to move into Class "A" squash circles by defeating Pierre Dessaulles of the M.B. & S.C. three games to two, in the finals of the Provincial "B" Tournament. Twice Bob had to overcome large leads in order to win. In the fourth game he was trailing 12-5 before tying the score at 13 all and going on to win 18-14. In the fifth game he was on the short end of an 11-5 count but again tied the score at 13 all.

BOB RALLIES

This time Dessaulles choned "no set". Bob won the first point, Dessaulles the second, and Bob won the deciding point after a long rally on a beautiful drive down the forehand alley. The game was featured by long rallies with numerous corner shots being made by both players. Dessaulles vollied throughout the match with telling effect whilst Colquhoun relied on a retrieving game until he could (Continued on Page 4)

Gael-Redmen Cage Contest To Feature 3rd Athletics Night

Nothing short of an extravaganza is the programme planned for the final Athletics Night of the college year, which will take place at the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium on March 1.

The programme will commence at 8 p.m. and whereas the athletic events will be staged in four different areas about the gymnasium, those attending are well advised to arrive early in order to be well seated for the sports of their choice, be it basketball, boxing, squash or gymnastics.

For those coming as early as 7:30

(the wise will do so) entertainment will be provided by cheerleaders, clowns, and the Black Watch Pipe Band, which have proven so popular at previous Athletics Nights.

CAGERS SEEK REVENGE

In the Big Gymnasium the Queen's University basketball team will engage McGill in an intercollegiate match which has aroused unusual interest. In their last meeting at Kingston the locals were defeated by a close margin, but there have been reports of biased refereeing, with the result that feeling between the two squads is at a high pitch.

The Small Gym will see McGill's Senior Gymnastic Team in competition with Syracuse in a spectacle which should prove one of the outstanding events of its kind to appear in Montreal in recent years. Syracuse boasts one of the strongest gym teams in the United States, and in recent weeks was only narrowly beaten by Army, acknowledged to be the top team in the country.

BOXERS ACTIVE

It is estimated that close to a thousand spectators will flock to the boxing gym to watch McGill boxers in eight bouts against strong opposition from the Metropolitan area. Boxing has proven terrifically popular at previous Athletics Nights, and the enthusiasts should arrive well before eight o'clock in order to get good seats.

As half-time entertainment at the sports, the famous Athletics Night Dance Chorus will appear in the upstairs gym at half-time. These twenty-five girls, who appeared as advertisement for the Athletics Night on Feb. 1 have proven immensely popular and have won wide acclaim. The Montreal Standard of February 22 ran an interesting article in its rotogravure section of pictures devoted mainly to these girls.

Music for dancing after the sports will be provided by no less than three outstanding bands, who

McGill Intermediate Ski Team In Intercollegiate Meet Friday

The McGill Intermediate Ski team will be competing with the best college teams in Eastern Canada this week-end at St. Sauveur at the same time that the senior squad is playing host to the International Intercollegiate Ski Union at Ste. Marguerite.

Slated to get under way Friday noon with the downhill on the St. Sauveur run, the meet comprises three events, the slalom taking place at three o'clock on the same day on Hill 71, while the eight mile cross country will be run off Saturday. Carrying the Red and White colours, will be a well balanced team consisting of John Turner Bone, John Bishop, Ted Kehoe, Andy Huggessen and Bob Munroe.

Coach Chris Gribbin was counting heavily on four way star Dick Meyer to boost the crosscountry department, but Dick, after placing seventh in the Dominion Championship langlauf injured his knee in the Mount St. Ann downhill and will be out of action for at least two weeks. A fourth man has not yet been chosen to run in this event along with Munroe, Bishop and Huggessen.

The Intermediate skiers are expecting their toughest opposition from the University of Montreal, the team sponsoring the meet, for in spite of the loss by injury of their captain, Yves Prevost, the Carabins are fielding a strong downhill and slalom team sparked by such hickory artists as Andre Senecal and Guy Scotte.

It is rumoured that the Blue and Gold are calling up powerful John Pare from their farm team at Loyola to help out in the cross-country department. Laval University may be counted on to provide plenty of surprises as Pierre Jalbert, newly crowned Dominion Slalom and Downhill combined champion is leading their team into action.

Bill Murray and Peter Van Wagner, well known in local racing circles a few years back, form the nucleus of the University of N.B. team which has already arrived in the Laurentians to practise for the meet. Other colleges taking part in the meet are Toronto, Sir George Williams, Dawson, Macdonald, Bishop's College and Queen's.

Dawson College Nominations

Nominations are called for from the students at Dawson College as follows:

1. President of the Students' Society.
2. President and Vice President of each of the faculties of Arts and Science, Engineering and Commerce.
3. Chairman of the Canteen Committee.
4. Chairman of the Mess Committee.
5. Chairman of the Social Committee.
6. Chairman of the House Committee.
7. Representative to Athletics Council.

Nominations for the President of the Students' Society shall be signed by 25 members and bear the signature of the nominee.

Nominations for all other positions shall be signed by 15 members.

Nominations for the Presidents and Vice Presidents of the faculties shall be signed by members of the faculty concerned only.

All nominations to be handed in to the Secretary of the Students' Society at the Student Council Office by 2.30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 27, 1947.

Student Soc'y Hear Platforms Of Candidates

Yesterday afternoon, in the McGill Union Ballroom, a general meeting of the Students Society heard the election platforms of the candidates for President of the Students Society, and for President of the McGill Union.

Candidates were introduced to the fairly representative assembly by students speaking on their behalf.

Those running for the position of President of the Students Society are Edward M. Ballon, Hugh Borsman, Michael Oliver, and Dave Townsend; and for President of the McGill Union: Robert Gill, Bob McKay, Jack Ronson, and Gil Rosenberg.

PLATFORM

Mr. Ballon laid his main stress on an increasing of spirit at McGill through the medium of activities specially designed for this purpose. He presented an eleven point program which placed an emphasis on social and sporting activities.

Mr. Borsman pointed to three main considerations: Athletics, Dawson, and the needs of Veterans. He believes a system of loans for veterans can be organized through the SEC.

Mike Oliver's main plank is racial and religious tolerance for all McGill organizations. He feels that the fraternities in particular should amend their constitutions with this in mind. Student employment and athletics also came under his attention for improvements.

Dave Townsend emphasized the need for re-organization of athletics and certain other societies directly concerned with the SEC. He cited the McGill Band as an example of one of these in need of help.

FIESTA 1947

There will be a general rehearsal of the PUEBLA DE LAS MUJERES tonight at 7:30 in the Board Room of the Union. The following are urged to come: Eva Dollfus, M. I. Prados, Bernice, June Pickering, Sylvia Weissler, Cicely Ambridge, Amy Fowler, Beatrice Syne, Bob Gale, Jack Farnsworth, Rony Chenet, Jean Bolte, Claude Garreau.

After the rehearsal a picture will be taken for the Annual and the Daily.

Edward M. Ballon

PEN SKETCH

It is only once in the longest time that McGill will see an undergraduate like Eddie Ballon.

His Athletics Nights have been heralded by the graduates as the greatest athletic venture at McGill in the last thirty years. The idea of four bands for dancing and six intercollegiate teams in action, all under the same roof, the introduction of dancing coeds to college classrooms—these things could only come from Eddie, and no one could have carried them out as he has. The enthusiasm and devotion of those working with him is truly an inspiration.

In addition he has in the past year been the dynamic leader of the Students' Athletics Council, Student Representative to the Athletics Board, Vice-president of the Scarlet Key, organizer of the half time entertainment at football games, Captain of the Senior Cross Country Team, and winner of the Provincial Championship in the five mile run.

Last year he was Captain of the Track Team (and initiated and organized indoor track at McGill); he was treasurer of the Scarlet Key; and a mainstay in the drive for athletics reorganization on the campus.

Before entering the service he was vice-president of Arts and Science, Treasurer of the Political Science Club, Manager of the Senior Hockey Team, and Captain of the Intermediate Hockey Team. The drive for Women Cheerleaders over the past year has been led by Eddie, and should they appear on the campus—it will be as the result of his efforts.

Here is a scholarship student with qualities for leadership that are truly unusual, and what is perhaps most important of all, with a strong sense of loyalty to his college.

DERIK BREWERTON.

Hugh Borsman

PEN PROFILE

Seldom does a candidate for the top executive position on the McGill campus offer as varied and interesting a background as that which Hugh Borsman carries into the 1947 presidential election. His past activities include those of teacher, executive, and administrator, and give an insight into his interesting character. He carried that experience into the R.C.N.V.R. where he spent four years rounding out his background and personality—very definitely Hugh's assets, as everyone who has met him heartily agrees.

An outstanding athlete and student in high school, Hugh kept right on going when he finally arrived at McGill in 1937. He took part in a great number of activities including senior track and harrier for four years, basketball manager for three, member of the Students' Athletic Council and Scarlet Key Society. After the war he returned to track as assistant coach and became Medicine's representative to the Students' Executive Council.

In the field of athletics, Hugh has made an invaluable contribution. No one, student or graduate, understands the athletic situation—its limitations and its needed changes—as well. When a final solution is arrived at, no one will have done more to bring it about.

Finally mention must be made of Hugh's terrific capacity for work. At the present time he is devoting considerable time to coaching track at McGill. He is spending untold hours meeting with graduates and seeking a solution to the athletics problem. Any council member will testify to his enthusiastic and energetic work on the council—all this in addition to standing near the top of his class in a difficult year in medicine.

For experience, ability and wealth of background as well as that needed drive—vote Borsman.

ALAN MANN.

Mike Oliver

PEN PROFILE

Presenting Mike Oliver—22-year-old, six-foot-four veteran in third year Arts.

Mike has had wide experiences both at McGill and as an N.C.O. in the Second Canadian Anti-Tank Regiment overseas. He saw action in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany before resuming his studies.

As soon as he returned his capabilities were recognized. He was elected to the Students' Executive Council Summer Committee, was active on the Arts and Science Educational Committee, was chairman of the McGill Anti-Discrimination Committee, organized and headed the Students' Forum, and was elected Vice-President of the C.C.F. Club—ALL THIS IN HIS FIRST YEAR BACK AT MCGILL.

At the beginning of this year he participated successfully in the Inter-University Debating League, was elected chairman of the N.F.C.U.S. Committee on Racial Discrimination, and was elected Vice-President of the Student Labour Club.

Mike is honoring in economics and political science prior to taking a Law course.

He is a well-known and experienced leader and organizer on the campus and elsewhere.

For these reasons a group of students concerned over racial discrimination, election apathy, and

Dave Townsend

PEN PROFILE

David Townsend has already proven himself a capable worker and administrator. During the past year as President of the McGill Union, he has improved the service, and initiated a plan for the remodeling of the basement during the summer. In addition to the heavy work on the Students' Council for the past year, he has acted as liaison member to the newly-formed Radio Committee.

He has also been active in other campus-wide activities. For the past two years, he has been president of the Players' Club, and a member of their executive for the past four years. In 1945-46 he was a member of the Student Reception Committee, both during October and January.

In his faculty, he was vice-president of the Engineering Debating Society in 1945-46 and also managing editor of their publication "The Monkey Wrench" during the same time.

In the field of athletics, Dave has other problems at McGill, approached Mike to run on the platform printed in this issue.

Election apathy is due in part to an ignorance of the candidates and their platforms.

been a member of the intermediate and senior Football teams for the past three years. He is also a member of the Championship Senior Water-Polo Team, and was captain of the squad this year. He has also played in class basketball and volleyball teams.

I feel that these well-rounded activities are sufficient evidence of David Townsend's qualifications for President of the Students Society.

A huge bouquet of red and white carnations was presented to Mrs. Roosevelt by Francine Welter of IRC in appreciation of her making time to address McGill students.

Also on the speaking platform were the Hon. North Winship, American Consul General in Montreal, L. R. Beaudoin, M.P., of the United Nations Society of Canada, Principal F. Cyril James, and members of the International Relations Club which arranged the mass rally.
